

Company News | December 22, 2020

We're Expanding! Construction is underway in Stockton.

2020 was a demanding year on many levels, but the teams at WCM rose to the challenge and quickly complied with COVID-related restrictions and safety precautions to protect our employees. We're grateful that our customers kept their business with us and we are expanding our facilities to better support their needs.

We're converting 6000 ft² of warehouse space into office and clean production space. In addition to accommodating a growing staff of engineers, we're creating a class 10,000 clean room to meet the clean product requirements of some of our customers.

When this expansion is complete, West Coast Magnetics will have a footprint of 22,000 ft² in a state of the art manufacturing facility that's only a short distance away from many of our Silicon Valley customers.